INNOVATIONS FOR BETTER HEALTHCARE

October 9 – 11, 2024

Regensburg, Germany and Digital

3 DAYS · 18 SESSIONS · 3 SIDE-EVENTS · 300+ PARTICIPANTS ON-SITE · 5,000+ PARTICIPANTS ONLINE

The German-Chinese Society for Medicine (DCGM), a leader in Asia-Europe healthcare exchange and in partnership with other Sino-German scientific societies, warmly invites you to the 36th German-Chinese Conference at the University of Regensburg. This event is a hallmark of our enduring commitment to fostering collaboration between Germany and China in the fields of healthcare and science.

Engage with an international assembly of thought leaders, researchers, and industry experts. This conference is not just an event; it's a pivotal platform for creating lasting Sino-German partnerships and shaping the future of health.

Receive answers to your questions, develop solutions for challenges of demographic change, obstacles of healthy aging, such as cancer, cardio-vascular and degenerative diseases.

Experience the added value of local and regional networks in healthcare.

Engage in showcases of Personalized Medicine, use of Artificial Intelligence in Standard Operating Procedures for your services and become familiar with Robotics in your daily work.

Learn from leadership experts in hospital management on how to improve efficiency in your business.

Dive into the world of a Premium University Hospital and be welcomed by the charming atmosphere of the City of Regensburg, a World Cultural Heritage Site.
